To: All Professoriate Staff, Research Assistant Professors, and Post-doctoral Fellows
From: Professor Danny Chan, Director of Education and Development for Research Integrity

The coming Seminar on Responsible Conduct of Research (RCR) has been scheduled for May 6, 2022 (Friday), from 1:45pm to 6:00pm at Lecture Theatre 2 (T2), Meng Wah Complex. The venue will be reviewed subject to the prevailing infection control guidelines of the Task Force on Infectious Diseases nearer the time of the seminar.

As part of HKU’s ongoing promotion of the importance of responsible conduct of research, the University arranges RCR seminars twice yearly (once in each semester) to ensure that all HKU academics are familiar with and uphold the highest standards of conduct in their research. The biannual RCR seminar will normally be scheduled during the Revision Period week in May and the Reading/Field Trip week in October.

All staff carrying titles equivalent to Postdoctoral Fellow/Research Assistant Professor/Professoriate grades are required to attend an RCR seminar to be eligible for internal research and conference support and research postgraduate student (RPg) supervision. New staff should attend an RCR seminar within 12 months of assuming duty.

Staff members who would like to attend the coming RCR seminar should register through the HKU Event Management System (https://hkuems1.hku.hk/hkuems/ec_hdetail.aspx?uid=80168)

I look forward to seeing you at the coming seminar.
